56 Diarization

This is an athletic and/or musical event at a large open air stadium or theatre located in a densely populated city. The stadium has been recently renovated because of faulty beams.

The area is filled with a lot of happy, excited people, there for the entertainment and food booths. There are musicians and singers performing on a raised platform. The event is being televised.

There may be a religious aspect to the event or interference by people with a religious agenda.
